

About the NBA

On 1 January 2013, Royal NIVRA and NOvAA were merged into a new organisation: the NBA (Koninklijke Nederlandse Beroepsorganisatie van Accountants - The Royal Netherlands Institute of Chartered Accountants). The NBA is the professional body for accountants in the Netherlands.

NBA's members include over 21.000 professionals working at public accountancy practices, government agencies, as internal auditors or in organisational management.

Every accountant should regard the following as fundamental behavioural standards: integrity, objectivity, professional competence and due care, confidentiality and professional behaviour. The NBA assists accountants in fulfilling their crucial role in society, both in the present and future.
